Jeb Beach is a Vancouver-based actor and teacher. As artistic director of If You Can't Beat 'Em Productions, he has appeared on the stages of Vancouver, most recently as the lead in the critically acclaimed production of Stephen Belber's "Tape". Along with several television guest star credits, Jeb will be seen on screen as the lead role opposite Darryl Hannah in the upcoming feature The Cycle shooting in Prague this September. As Co-Founder of the Actor's Foundry, Jeb is the only teacher licensed to teach Matthew Harrison's Core-Applied professional process for teaching professional actors. He has operated as Matthew's assistant teacher, co-teaching classes, and regularly assists in coaching his roster.

Matthew Harrison is a coach and teacher in both LA and Vancouver. His regular coaching roster includes Cobie Smulders (How I Met Your Mother), Patrick Gallagher (Sideways), Christopher Shyer (The Practice), Paul Campbell, (Nobody's Watching), Michelle Harrison (The Invisible), Meredith McGeachie (The "L" Word), Brooke Nevin (I'll Always Know What You Did Last Summer), Leah Cairns (Kyle XY), Erica Cerra (Eureka), Brandon Jay McLaren (The Best Years), Jody Racicot (Flash Gordon), Ryan Kennedy (Whistler), Colby Johannson (Men in Trees) and many more. As an on set coach, Matthew regularly works with high-caliber actors, most recently with Rufus Sewell on next year's feature release Downloading Nancy. The documentary The Foundry: Acting With Matthew Harrison will be released spring, 2007.
